

HARDING GREETED BY BRYAN AT MIAMI

President-Elect Will Visit
Commoner's Home Before Returning North.

OUTLINES SIX OF CABINET

Expects to Catch Sailfish
When at Camp Near Noted
Pirate's Retreat.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

MIAMI BEACH, Jan. 29.—Browned with a tan accumulated from five days' cruising down the Indian River, but refreshed and eager for more strenuous exercise than the confines of the Frelinghuysen houseboat permit, President-elect Harding and his party reached here soon after noon today. To-night Mr. Harding is quartered more comfortably than aboard ship. With the members of the 'cruising party' he is occupying one of the cottages connected with the Flamingo Hotel property, Miami's resort centre, and is looking forward to the getaway to the fishing grounds at Coccolobo Camp to-morrow afternoon.

The President-elect has had a fairly crowded day since the Victoria tied up at the Flamingo wharf. A luncheon, an informal conference with Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican National Committee; a call from William J. Bryan, who is wintering here, and a dinner party at night given in honor of Mr. Upham, whose sixtieth birthday it is, and between times a round of golf at the Miami Golf Club made up the day's programme.

In the last two days of the Victoria's southward voyage Mr. Harding has been able to give more time to the consideration of Cabinet appointments and other matters that required uninterrupted consideration. It may be said his mind practically is made up on at least six of his Cabinet selections, and after to-morrow he plans to spend two or three days fishing, the real object of his coming to these waters. The Point Isabel experience was a disappointment and Mr. Harding expects to get some real sport beginning Monday morning.

Start for Camp To-day.

To-morrow afternoon Mr. Harding, Senator Frelinghuysen, former Ambassador Fletcher, Dr. Elbert Ely, Senator Frelinghuysen's physician, all members of the 'cruising party,' will set out in Carl Fisher's speed launch, Shadow V, for Camp Coccolobo at Caesar's Creek on Adams Key, about thirty miles south-east of here.

There the President-elect hopes to hook a sailfish, the ambition of every fisherman who visits Florida waters, and if Capt. Charlie Thompson, who has piloted more ambitious fishermen around this coast than any other man, except possibly his own father, has his way, Mr. Harding will qualify as a member of the Sailfish Club.

The Coccolobo Club has a unique loca-

New White House Tennis Courts Await Harding

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau.] Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—If Warren G. Harding intends to have a "tennis cabinet" like that of Theodore Roosevelt the White House courts are ready for the first game. They have been repaired by the dumping of many cartloads of clay as part of the programme for preparing the grounds around the Executive Mansion for the advent of the new Administration.

The Roosevelt courts, which were famous in their time, were located on the ground now covered by a comparatively new addition to the Executive offices.

tion. Carl Fisher, one of the most enthusiastic sportsmen in the southern part of the peninsula, established it a year ago on the spot where "Black Caesar," most famous of all Gulf pirates, used to make his headquarters in the buccanering days of 1847.

Senator Fall of New Mexico and Harry M. Daugherty, who were members of the Victoria's company, do not plan to join the fishing excursion. They expect to start North immediately. Senator Cummins, who joined the party at Ormond and who has been much benefited as a result of the cruise, may go to the fishing grounds.

When the Victoria turned into Miami harbor she was met by a flotilla of power boats sent out by Miamians to greet the President-elect. Mayor W. P. Smith, aboard the Boomerang, a speed boat belonging to Commodore Huston Wyeth of the Miami Motor Boat Club, headed the welcome committee.

"The Republican party did not carry this State, therefore it's a doubtful one," Mayor Smith said as he went over the side of the Victoria.

"I sort of like that reasoning," laughed Mr. Harding.

Mayor is facetious.

"We want you to go ahead and have a good time here," Mayor Smith added. "If you want quiet to prepare an inaugural address we will try to see that you get it. You know we have a prominent resident here who started three times to prepare an inaugural address that was never delivered. We wish you better luck."

"I know the gentleman," Mr. Harding laughed, "and expect to call on him before I leave."

Mr. Bryan, however, beat Mr. Harding to it. After luncheon at the Lincoln Inn, just opposite the golf club, Mr. Bryan motored up and was warmly received by Mr. Harding. The two men chatted for half an hour. Afterward Mr. Bryan said Mr. Harding promised to have another talk with him after his return from his fishing trip. The commoner, however, did not let the opportunity go by to pay his respects to his fellow Democrat who "put his heart in the grave" at San Francisco by nominating Cox for the Presidency. Asked what he thought of Mr. Harding's plan of conferences with the leaders of public opinion Mr. Bryan could not resist this fling:

"I am not so much concerned about the conference held by leaders. It is when the voters commence to confer that I become interested. The Democratic party is a good deal like the Pyramids, but it stands on its base instead of on its head. The reorganization of the Democratic party, if such a thing occurs, will be from the bottom and not from the top."

OLIGARCHY MERE BOGEY

Ohio Senator Tells Tippecanoe
Club He Favors Return to McKinley Tariff.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 29.—Senator Frank B. Willis of Ohio, speaking at the Tippecanoe Club's annual McKinley Day dinner here to-night, after eulogizing McKinley, emphatically declared that President-elect Harding would make his decisions independent of the "so-called Senatorial oligarchy."

Senator Willis told the 700 guests he favored a return to the McKinley tariff and economic standards which just a year ago to-night President-elect Harding was pledging at a McKinley anniversary dinner at Niles, Ohio.

Senator Willis, who succeeded Mr. Harding as Senator from Ohio, said the incoming President intended to be his own sponsor in the President's chair and that the "bogey of the Senate oligarchy was the non-existent figment of a fevered political brain."

"Warren G. Harding will be President himself," Senator Willis said. "I assure you of that. No individual or clique or faction will control him."

"His countrymen need not fear that he will be overpowered by that misty, evanescent thing, the so-called 'Senatorial oligarchy.'"

"As befits the Chief Executive of this great Republic, never intended to be dominated by a one-man power, Warren G. Harding will hear evidence, he will consult, he will welcome helpful information from every source, whether from the blacksmith or the banker. But he will hear all and consider all, the decision will be his."

Referring to American business conditions, Senator Willis said:

"We shall not be upon a sound basis until we rewrite a tariff law upon the principles of protection. The protective tariff ideas of William McKinley, that brought prosperity to the country in the late 90's, if suitably applied will prevent industrial disaster in the months ahead."

G. O. P. COMMITTEE AND OTHERS TO KEEP JOBS

Post-Campaign Work to Be Finished by Leaders.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—Members of the Republican National Committee and other officials of that party, from Chairman Hays down, will be kept in their political positions for a time after March 4, regardless of Cabinet and other Federal appointments, according to definite announcement made to-day by officials at Republican headquarters here.

It was regarded as certain, they said, that Chairman Hays would be appointed to the Cabinet, but that this would in no wise affect his political position within the party, at least not for a time after the new Administration comes into office.

The plan had been agreed to, it was said, because of the necessity of keeping the party machinery intact immediately after the inauguration of President-elect

Harding. A great deal of work remains for the national committee, including the raising of funds to meet the deficit incurred during the campaign.

The deficit, of $1,600,000 which the party faced after the campaign has been materially reduced. It was said to-day. The $200,000 floating debt has been paid and $400,000 has been collected by letters of solicitation sent out by the committee to Republicans throughout the country. The deficit to-day is approximately $1,000,000, officials said.
